Kimberly is an expert in helping clients navigate complex business transactions to successful closings using a creative and practical approach. Her practice focuses primarily on commercial real estate transactions, public-private finance and real estate transactions, finance, agricultural land transactions and mergers and acquisitions.

Industries

- Agriculture
- Banking
- Real Estate Development, Construction and Investment
- State and Local Government
- Technology

Kimberly has unique experience guiding clients through the complexities of large-scale, long-term real estate and finance transactions, and in particular, public-private development projects. Kimberly has represented clients in some of the most significant development projects in downtown Boise including the Ada County Courthouse Corridor project, the BoDo development, and the Greater Boise Auditorium District convention center expansion. Kimberly also specializes in representing borrowers in tax exempt bond financings and has broad experience in real estate transactions involving the finance, acquisition and leasing of commercial properties, charter schools and agricultural land. Kimberly leads clients through forming and managing business entities specifically designed to a client's unique goals and objectives.

Prior to joining Givens Pursley, Kimberly worked at Lord, Bissell & Brook in Chicago, Illinois, and worked as in-house general counsel for a technology firm. Kimberly's in-house experience exposed her to a wide range of business concerns from the business owner's perspective, including employment, intellectual property, corporate governance and service contracting.
