Practice Areas

- Business, Finance & Banking
- Real Estate and Land Use
- Mergers and Acquisitions

Taylor takes pride in the relationships he establishes with his clients and assisting them through the full lifecycle of business transactions. His practice focuses primarily on commercial real estate transactions, public-private finance and real estate transactions, agricultural real estate transactions, general corporate matters, and mergers and acquisitions.

Taylor utilizes a practical approach to guide his clients through a variety of business and real estate transactions. Taylor has represented clients in significant acquisitions and dispositions of commercial properties, agricultural land, businesses, and large-scale assets as well as public and private financing transactions, commercial leasing matters, and development projects. Prior to joining Givens Pursley, Taylor spent several years as a litigator in the Boise area, giving him a unique perspective in assisting his clients. In his spare time, Taylor enjoys spending time with his family, golfing, and taking advantage of all the great things Idaho has to offer.
